

Editing Practice

A. Edit the following passages to correct errors in the usage of modals, prepositions, verbs, and conjunctions. Ensure the passage maintains grammatical accuracy and coherence:

1. In the modern times, people has become more dependent on technology than they was in the past. Many believe that technology can solves all the problems of the world, but it is not true. Instead relying solely on machines, we should learn to use them wisely. For example, children spends more time on screens instead of outdoor activities. If this trend will continues, it may leads to health issues. Parents must encourage their children to balance between technology with physical activities. Moreover, people should develop habits of critical thinking rather than to blindly trust information on internet.
2. The rapid growth of urbanization, along with advancements in technology, have led into numerous challenges which humanity faces today. Although cities offers opportunities for economic growth, it also bring issues like overcrowding, pollution, and lack in resources. Governments must ensures that urban planning is sustainable, taking into consideration of the environmental impacts. Furthermore, people should adapt to eco-friendly practices and reduce their dependency on non-renewable sources. If actions are not take urgently, the situation will worsens. It is crucial that individuals and communities collaborates together for addressing the complexities which arise due to unplanned urban developments.