

- The Ship of the Desert
 - Reference to the context -
1. "You call yourself the Ship of the Desert." How can a camel be compared with a ship?

Ans - Both a camel and a ship are used to transport people and goods over long distances. That is why, camels are compared with ships.

2. How is it possible for a camel to walk across the desert on a hot afternoon?

Ans - The wide, flat feet of camels are thick and padded which prevents the hot sun from burning them.

3. "I can store water for a week." In which part of the body does camels store water?

Ans - Camels drink a lot of water when they are thirsty and can store water in their blood, kidneys and stomach.