Dear Prerna,

How are you? I have just returned from a fabulous holiday. Guess where we had gone? We went to the Andaman Islands for a week and had the experience of a lifetime.

The Andaman Islands, as you know, are a group of islands off the coast of India. The blue waters lapping against the sandy shores tempted us to swim. We indulged in water sports like scuba diving and snorkelling. The underwater world is fascinating with its coral reefs and marine life. We feasted on lobsters, prawns and crabs. The other attraction was the Cellular Jail where hundreds of freedom fighters were kept during the freedom struggle. Watching the sound and light show at the jail gave me goosebumps. The other two islands we visited were Ross and Jolly Buoy. This holiday has been the most unforgettable holiday of my life.

Your loving friend,
Tina
