

The display board, titled "ORANGE HOUSE" in large orange letters at the top, features a central painting of a woman in a red and green sari holding a blue lotus. The board is decorated with a black border containing white icons, various cutouts of Indian art and text, and large pink lotus petals at the bottom. The central figure is a woman with a bindi, wearing a red sari with a green border and a yellow blouse, holding a blue lotus flower. The background is a collage of newspaper clippings, small illustrations, and text in Hindi. The border is decorated with white icons of Indian culture, including a sun, a house, a tree, a person, and a temple. The bottom of the board is adorned with large, pink, hand-painted lotus petals. The overall theme is Indian art and culture.

India's Power is self rule.
India's soul is equality.

Our sovereignty is our shield.
Our socialism is our shared heartbeat.

Sovereignty defines our nation.
Socialism defines our commitment.

A Sovereign India stands tall.
A Socialist India stands together.

From Colonial London
To Independent India

"India's sovereignty is its soul.
Socialism is its conscience. Sovereignty gives us Independence. Socialism ensures we share its fruits. In the heart of a Sovereign India beats the promise of equality for all."
