

Chanda Mama Counts The Stars

Word Meaning:

1. yawn - to open the mouth wide because of tiredness or sleepiness.
2. tears-drops of water that come from the eyes when someone cries.

Opposite:

remembered × forgot
complete × incomplete upset × happy / calm joyfully × sadly

Answer the following questions:

Homework

1. I call the Moon "Chanda Mama." Is there any other name you call him in your language?
2. Chanda Mama was not able to count the stars. Mention any other thing you can't count?

3. The moon is visible during the night. Mention some other things you can see in the night sky.

Class work

4. Mention the thing that shine along with Chanda Mama.

Ans-The stars shine along with Chanda Mama.

5.State the reason Chanda Mama could not complete his counting.

Ans-Chanda Mama could not complete his counting because he forgot the number every morning.

6.State the reason that made Chanda Mama cry.

Ans-Chanda Mama cried because he was unable to finish counting the stars.

7.Chanda Mama was happy after hearing sun's words.State the reason behind his happiness.

Ans-Chanda Mama was happy to hear that the number of stars was the same as the number of lovely children.

8.We learn some moral from both Chanda Mama as well as the Sun. Can you write the morals you learn from them?

Ans:We learn not to give up and to keep trying from Chanda Mama. We learn to be helpful and kind to others from the Sun.

9.Imagine you are Chanda Mama would you count the stars?List out the activities you would do before going to bed?

Ans: Yes, I would count the stars if I were Chanda Mama.

i. Drink warm milk.

ii. Brush my teeth.

iii. Wear my night suit.

iv. Pray to God.

10. "The number of lovely children is the same as the number of stars in the sky."

i. Can you identify the star quality in you?

ii. If you were a writer, what would you compare all the lovely children of the world with?