

Error Correction Exercise

1. No sooner had the committee submitted its final report than the media begins speculating about its controversial findings.
2. Scarcely had he entered the auditorium when he realizes that he had forgotten his speech at home.
3. Each of the proposals submitted by the candidates were thoroughly examined before a final decision was reached.
4. The principal, along with the senior teachers, have decided to revise the examination pattern from next session.
5. If she would have exercised more caution while investing, she would not face such severe financial losses now.
6. Hardly had the announcement been made when the audience started to clapped enthusiastically.
7. One of the most significant issues that concerns the administration are the rising cases of absenteeism.
8. The teacher advised the students that they should not indulged in unfair practices during the examination.
9. A great deal of research have been conducted to determine the long-term effects of climate change.
10. He said that he will submit the assignment as soon as he would complete the remaining portion of the project.
11. The manager asked the employees whether had they completed the assigned targets before the deadline.
12. Neither the quality of the products nor the delivery schedules were satisfactory to the clients.
13. Many a scholar have attempted to interpret the poem, yet its deeper symbolism remains elusive.

14. It is high time the authorities takes immediate steps to address the deteriorating condition of the roads.
15. She has been residing in this city since eight years before relocating to another state.
16. The data collected from various sources indicates that there is several discrepancies in the report.
17. He would rather resign than to compromise with his professional integrity.
18. The scientist denied to have manipulated the experimental results despite the allegations raised against him.
19. Not only the students but also the teacher were unaware of the sudden change in schedule.
20. Unless you follow the prescribed guidelines, you will not be eligible to participated in the competition.
21. The jury, after prolonged deliberations, have finally delivered its verdict in the high-profile case.
22. She is one of those rare individuals who possesses exceptional leadership qualities and inspire others effortlessly.
23. The chairman requested that the members can attend the meeting without fail.
24. Each of the participants were required to submit their identity proofs before entering the examination hall.
25. The book, along with several supplementary materials, were distributed among the students prior to the commencement of classes.