

Rewrite the sentences correctly

1. The biology textbook is stating that the human heart is beating approximately seventy-two times per minute under normal conditions.
2. At this very moment, the school principal is believing that the student council requires a complete restructuring.
3. The research committee has submitted the detailed report on carbon emissions to the environment ministry last Monday.
4. The literary club members are preparing for the upcoming national youth festival since October.
5. The debate team did not won the trophy because they did not presented their arguments in a structured manner.
6. When the physics lecture started, several latecomers slipped in while the teacher wrote on the whiteboard.
7. The drama club already rehearsed the final scene twice before the director arrived at the school auditorium.

8. The local authorities were repairing the dilapidated bridge for several weeks before it finally collapsed yesterday.
9. If the chief guest will arrive late, the organizing committee will postpone the prize distribution ceremony.
10. Do not call the coordinator at noon tomorrow because she will deliver her keynote address at the seminar.
11. By the time the winter vacation starts, the science students will complete their chemistry investigatory projects.
12. By next month, our history teacher will be teaching at this prestigious institution for exactly twenty years.
13. The head prefect assured the class teacher that everyone will complete the English assignment by Friday morning.
14. Our school has won the prestigious inter-state football championship in 2024 after a thrilling penalty shootout.
15. If the school management would have approved the budget, the science club would have organized the national exhibition.

16. As soon as the board exam results will be declared, the candidates will receive an automated email notification.
17. The chemistry laboratory is closed since the department decided to upgrade the electrical wiring last month.
18. Hardly the guest speaker started his presentation when a sudden power outage plunged the hall into complete darkness.
19. My older sister is knowing the exact formula required to solve this complex quadratic equation.
20. The academic delegation will visit the heritage site when they will arrive in Jaipur next Wednesday.